Student Scholarship Information

Appleton West Counseling Office

There are several sources to help in your search for scholarship opportunities. Look for opportunities with a parent's employer, local community groups, and the information available from the Counseling Office. You can also do an online web search. The trend is for the majority of scholarship applications to be available online.

Students should be sure to check with the college they are applying to for any freshman scholarships specific to that institution. It should not be assumed that this information will be sent to the student's home, or that the Counseling Office has received it. Typically, these scholarship offerings can be found online at the college/university web site, or you can contact their financial aid office or admissions office.

Here is a list of some of the free, legitimate sources of scholarship information and college-related information:

Scholarship Tips

- Neatness counts, follow directions, and complete the application in full.
- Watch deadlines – if your scholarship application requires counselor or teacher recommendation, you will need to allow time for that (1 week minimum).
- Proofread the entire application carefully looking for misspelled words or grammatical errors.
- It's not a bad idea to make copies before you send the application out, and make a note of the date you mailed the scholarship.

Procedure for Scholarships

Every scholarship is different, so be sure to read the application carefully. Not all scholarship applications will require assistance from the Counseling Office. Many scholarships can be applied for online.

- If you need to include a transcript with your application, you can stop in the Counseling Office during your lunch hour or before/after school to obtain a copy from the Counseling Office Secretary. Be sure to read scholarship instructions to see if they require an official sealed transcript or if they require it mailed in separately from your application.
- If your scholarship application requires a Counselor Recommendation Form, please bring the completed scholarship application to the Counseling Office Secretary. PLEASE allow 4-5 business days for processing.
- Scholarship applications may be processed in the Counseling Office, however the student will be responsible for mailing the scholarship application out. The student can check back after 4-5 business days to pick up the completed scholarship application. (The exception would be if the scholarship instructions indicate a transcript to be mailed in directly from the high school, separate from the application.)
