Dear Appleton West High School Counselor:

Your student, Andrew Duncombe, attended our Summer Writing Program last summer -- a summer academic program here at Carleton College. Each year our goal is to provide memorable pre-college experiences to high-achieving high school students, furthering their ability to visualize the reality of attending college and aid them in their future college search and admission process. We rely on you and your colleagues to help us find great students that will benefit from a three-week summer program.

Carleton College, founded in 1866 in Northfield, Minnesota, is committed to providing academic excellence, distinguished by the creative interplay of teaching, learning, and scholarship, and is also dedicated to fostering a diverse residential community and extensive international engagements. Recognized by the U.S. News & World Report as #8 in a national ranking of liberal arts colleges and #1 in commitment to undergraduate teaching, Carleton strives to make each student realize their potential. The summer months at Carleton look very similar to that -- just replacing our typical undergraduate students with high-achieving high school students from across the country and world.

For the summer of 2017, we are offering the following programs:

- Summer Computer Science Institute, July 16 – August 4
- Summer Humanities Institute, July 23 – August 11
- Language and Global Issues Summer Institute, July 9 – 28
- Summer Quantitative Reasoning Institute, July 16 – August 4
- Carleton Summer Science Institute, July 16 – August 4
- Summer Writing Program, July 9 – 28

All of our programs are taught by Carleton faculty and are designed to give each individual student a unique experience rooted in personal and academic growth. A research component is integrated throughout each of our programs, giving students the opportunity to present their collaborative research to the Carleton community. A final accomplishment of our programs is the opportunity to earn 6 Carleton College credits.

We are proud to announce that we have scholarships available for all of our programs this summer. In the past two years alone, we have allocated over $400,000 in scholarships to attend our programs.

To learn more about our programs please visit go.carleton.edu/summer. If you would like more brochures, please email us at summer@carleton.edu. We hope to see more of your students in the future!

Sincerely,

Jeremy Updike
